

March for Farmed Animals

Saturday 6th October 2012

Please join us to mark World Day for Farmed Animals

Meet at 1pm near the Loving Hut café,
The Level,
Brighton, for a rally with speakers

Join the march at 2.30pm
to take the message through the heart of the city

Enjoy the free social event afterwards with bar and food

Please bring any banners and leaflets on farming, slaughter, and vegetarian/vegan eating you may have.
See you on 6th October!

Each values their life, as we value our own...

Pigs in crates... cows on concrete... chickens in cages... lambs rammed into a lorry... baby animals torn from their mothers, fattened, mutilated, pumped with drugs, all to suffer a violent and terrifying death in the slaughterhouse.

In the UK alone, around 1000 million land animals are killed for meat, dairy and eggs every year. In addition, fish, proved to feel pain, are dragged out of the water in their tonnes to suffocate. Each of these creatures has the same complex feelings as cats and dogs who share our homes; each has a unique personality and relationships; and each values their life, as we value our own.
